THE GREAT CURE OF CHAS. B. JOHNSON, OF BRISTOL

WHO WAS PRONOUNCED INCURABLY FIXED IN THE LAST STAGE OF PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, BY TWO SKILFUL PHYSICIANS.

Mr. Johnson was rescued from death's door by the use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, having been prostrated all winter. His case was witnessed by several of the most respectable citizens of this State, whose names are appended to his certificate. Read! read!! and be convinced that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is the only certain cure for Consumption:-BRISTOL, Bucks County, Pa.-Dr. J. H.

Schenck-Dear Sir:-I am induced, from a sense of justice towards you, as well as duty to the public, to make known one of the most hopeless and extraordinary cures, in my own person, that you have ever had the pleasure to record. Indeed, I regret my inability to portray, in truthful colors, my consuming disease, and the remarkable change which Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup effected in so short a time. I was taken, some time previous to December, 1848, with a heavy cold, producing incessant coughing, accompanied with acute pain in the right side, pains in the back, under the right shoulder, having heavy night-sweats, high fevers, etc., which made me so nervous and restless as to produce utter prostration. All these afflictions increased with such violence that on the 4th of January last I sent for my family physician. He attended me faithfully, and prescribed everything that medical skill could suggest, but without effect. I found myself gradually growing worse, and my hopes of recovery lessening as my disease increased. My cough became distressing, my pains severe, and, extremely debilitated, I lost all ambition in life, and gave up to a state of melancholy depression. My physician examined me, and informed me I had an abscess on the upper part of my liver and lower part of one of my lungs. Notwithstanding all his skill, I grew worse; but with that tenacity with which we all cling to life, I concluded to leave nothing undone, and called in a consulting physician, who fully concurred with my own, and pronounced my case an extremely critical one. He thought I was in imminent danger, -saying my disease "was one that is seldom, if ever cured." All this time I was enduring sufferings that made life burdensome; experiencing great pain in coughing; expectoratin from a pint to a quart of nauseous matter jevery twenty-four hours, and gradually sinking under the weakening progress of my disease. At this stage of my illness, my friends in Bristol suggested the use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup; but knowing the many expedients resorted to for the purpose of draining money from the afflicted, I hesitated. My friends, however, insisting, I was prevailed upon to try its virtues. I commenced taking the Syrup about the first of March, and used several bottles before I had any confidence in it. I then began to experience a change for the better, and continued it till I had consumed ten bottles, when I was so far relieved as to be able to visit Dr. Schenck in Philadelphia. He examined me, and pronounced my right lung affected, but in a healing condition. He recommended the further use of the Syrup which I continued till I consumed fifteen bottles, and found myself once more restored to health. I will further add, that the consulting physician, seeing the action of the medicine, fully approved its use.

To give the reader some idea of the severity of my case, and the rapid cure effected by the Syrup, I will state that my usual weight in health was 177 pounds, which was finally reduced by my sufferings to but 121 pounds. Yet, on the first of this month (September), I weighed 174 pounds; thus gaining in a few months 53 pounds, and within three pounds of my heaviest weight. It is not in my power to convey, in the short space of this certificate, the convincing proofs of my remarkable cure. or the particulars of the agonizing afflictions through which I have passed; but to those who will take the trouble to call on me at Bristol, opposite Pratt's Hotel, I shall take pleasure in detailing every particular.

In conclusion, I deem it my duty to urge upon every person who may have the premonitory symptoms of this fatal disease, not to delay one hour, but to call upon Dr. Schenck immediately. His skill in the treatment of this complaint, and prompt detection of diseased parts of the lungs by means of his Stethoscope, added to my own miraculous cure, fully satisfies me that, had I earlier submitted myself to his care, I should have escaped much suffering; but, restrained by doubts and suspicion, which make us all naturally skeptical in regard to the virtues of a medicine when first introduced, I resisted the importunities of my friends till almost too late, and yielded only as a last resort, resolved to "kill or cure." To those afflicted as I have been, again let me say, hesitate no longer; my own case is presented to you as convincing evidence that, when all else fails, your last hope is in Dr. Schenek's Pulmonie Syrup. I have, also, for the satisfaction of those who may be strangers to me, appended to this certificate the names of gentlemen well known in the walks of public and private life, and whose standing in society admits no cavil or doubt in regard to their testimony.

CHARLES G. JOHNSON.

We, the undersigned, residents of Bristol and vicinity, are well acquainted with Mr. Johnson, and know him to have been afflicted as he states above. We also know that he used Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, and have every reason to believe that to this medicine he owes his preservation from a premature grave. The known integrity and position in society of Mr. Johnson, however, are a sufficient guarantee to the public of the truth of his statement:-

PETTY LARCENIES .- Daniel Dailey, a youth of thirteen, was arrested this morning for breaking into a house at the corner of Ninth and Marriott streets, and taking therefrom a quantity of pipe. Alderman Lutz committed him for a further hearing.

John McIlhenny was arrested at Broad and Shippen streets, last night, for stealing from a house near by $10 in bills and a gold ring. He was taken to the Central Station by Detec ive Stevens, where he was held to answer this afternoon.

Daniel Godell, a negro youth of twenty, was found in a suspicious manner lurking in a yard at Second and Concord streets, last evening. Alderman Tittermary committed him to answer. Charles Sawyer, alias Page, was arrested last evening for stealing a quantity of stationery from the establishment of Murphy & Sons, Fourth and Chesnut. He stands committed to

A giri named Jennie Spetzer was arrested at Fourth and Girard avenue, for picking cer-tain vegetables and estables generally from the market stalls in the vicinity. She was committed by Alderman Fitch to answer.

NAVAL COURT MARTIAL .- The trial of Major Thomas G. Field, of the United States Marine Corps, which has excited great interest in naval circles, was concluded yesterday, after a continuance for more than a month. The accused read his defense, which was very feeble, and mainly confined to personal abuse of his offi-cers, on Saturday, and the Judge Advocate, Lieutenant French, United States Marine Corps, made a sweeping rejoinder on Tuesday. The effort to prove a conspiracy failed entirely, and the case was submitted to the Court without collateral issues. The sentence will not be known until announced from the Navy De-marine barracks and ordered to the United States steamer Monongahela, at Hampton Roads, to command the Marine Guard.

A SHOPLIFTER.-Sophia Lambkin, forty-five years of age, was arrested in a store on the corner of Spring Garden and Tenth streets for being engaged in shoplifting. She was there detected in stealing fancy goods, ribbons, etc., for which she had a peculiar liking for. Officer Dunlap arrested her, and on the way down to the Station House she dropped a large canyas the Station House she dropped a large canvas "shoplifter's" bag, which had been concealed beneath her dress. The officer did not fail to see this action, which was prima facie evi dence of her guilt. The bag contained a great number of articles. Alderman Massey this morning committed her to answer in $1000

GRAND TEMPERANCE MEETING .- This evening, at 7½ o'clock, there will be a grand rally of the friends of the temperance cause at the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage's Church, op Seveuth street, above Brown. The pastor of the church will preside, and addresses will be made by the Revs. Alfred Cookman, John Moore, and P. S. Henson, In addition to these attractions, the audience will be favored with a rare musical entertainment recovered executive for the content of th entertainment prepared especially for the occasion. We hope this meeting will be well at-tended, and that it will not be without some effect towards furthering the temperance re-

CAUGHT .- Thomas Hurley, who was engaged on Sunday evening in beating Officer Pritner, in the vicinity of Thirty-seventh and Behrings streets, was arrested yesterday and committed by Alderman Allen to answer.

John Heenan, who beat a man so terribly in an altercation at Fifth and Walnut yesterday, and of which an account is given on the third page of The Evening Trileghaph, was arrested this morning at Third and Chesnut streets, and beid to answer at a hearing this afternoon.

BURGLARS AT WORK .- Some time during hast night, an auction store at No. 1023 Market last night, an auction store at No. 1023 Market street, was entered by burglars, ransacked, and robbed of cutlery and silver-ware to the amount of $300. The burglars effected an entrance by cutting through an inch and a half panel in a door which opens out into a back yard. The cutlery, etc., was found in a large trunk, which was demolished by the burglars in their attempts to open it,

An Assault.-Joseph Rawlings, who cannot refrain from injuring other persons, for which he has been up a number of times, violently beat a woman named Mary Cochrane, at No. 117 Benton street, for which assault he was arrested, and committed to answer by Alderman Lutz, in default of the required $600 bail,

St. Joseph's Church.—The critical talk of the town among Catholics is the preaching of the Rev. Robert Fuiton, a Jesuit, who has just opened a retreat at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Willing's alley, Father Fulton is a native of Alexandria, Virginia, an Irishman of years respectable parents.

ginis; an Irishman of very respectable parentage; a pupil of the Colleges of Holy Cross and Georgetown; and a Jusuit for more than twenty years. He is now about thirty-nine.
The reverend gentleman is well favored, with a tall, symmetrical, portly, and handsome person. His face and brow are of the finest class in the order of intellect. WISTAR C. PARSONS, at E. Roussel's Labora son. His face and brow are of the finest class in the order of intellect.

We are well acquainted with chums of Father Fulton in Holy Cross. They represent him as a wit, as outspoken on all occasions, as extensively read in English literature, as always the first in the class, and as quite gifted with felicity in narrating the interesting parts of whatever he had studied. In Georgetown, a celebrated college, in which the highest spirit of emulation is never at rest, he quickly gained a emulation is never at rest, he quickly gained a leading repute with professors and scholars. Nothing is truer than that he entered that institution a far finer mind than any among he students who took up their habitation here. There are many living witnesses—law-rers, physicians, soldiers, merchants, and dergymen—to attest this. His old-time books are full of proofs of it.

At the age of about eighteen he entered the Jesuits' Novitiate in Frederick City, Maryland. The silent, learned critics in the Refectory there, found the pleasures of the scholar in his elegant, correct way of reading the Latin homi After the noviceship he got a "professor's "atternately where, formerly, he himsel chair" alternately where, formerly, he himself had been "under the ferule," at Holy Cross and at Georgetown. As a professor he had the kindest of dispositions and the most resolute of purposes. His tongue, clear and scathing, was a great, much dreaded scourge to lazy under-graduates. That, in its indignation, was a dreaded weapon. But it was not all severity—where it scarred, it could and always did heal; and devoted application found in it a potent incentive to renewed labor. In each seat of letters he taught poetry and rhetorio—that is, Sophomores and Juniors; and, in nearly all cases, he turned out finished young men, He had, and he still possesses, the resolve, the art, and the caracity of making young men make the most of their talent and their time while under College jurisdiction. In this feature, and it is the most important feature a professor can have, it would be difficult to find any man, either within or without the walls of the order either within or without the walls of the order of Jesuits, that excels him. Like the artist, de-termined that the picture shall not leave him until perfect in all places, did this Jesuit Priest watch over his alumni. In 1852 Father Fulton was changed from teaching to studying, and he entered the school of philosophy in Georgetown. About twenty other Jesuit scholastics joined him. He was then, in the classical sense, one of the best finished and most versatile young Professors in the United States; and all the old members of his Order, every one of whom had erudition, were proud of him. He commenced philosophy as a preparation for divinity. With the Jesuits philosophy, in its three branches of logic, metaphysics, and ethics, has, ic its course various terms. For those who have pulle sophic talents of the best order, it is three years long, and for those not so well endowed, it ranges from one to two years. Father Fulton made, with distinguished success, the three years' course. In 1855 he began theology, Here, too, the Jesuits have various terms, according to talent. The full course is the mortal length of four years, Father Fulton made victoriously this long term. In 1859, himself and fourteen who had gone through long studies with him, were ordained Priests in the chapel of Georgetown College by the late Arch-bishop Kenrick, Since his ordination, the Revetend gentleman has made the "tertlanship;" he has been Prefect of Studies in Georgetown. Professor of Theology in Boston, and he is now Pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Con-restor of the Universe of the Immachiate Conception in that city.

Here are a few notes on the Priest whose presching is now the admiration of the Catholics of Philadelphia. All who like to enjoy pulpit eloquence of a high order should go to hear him. Certainly, there is no sacred orator in this city, either in the Catholic or in the Protestant Church, who surpasses him in merit, and this is his repute in Boston. There the Rationalists, all of whom are educated people, Rationalists, all of whom are educated people, crowd to hear him when he is anticipated in the pulpit. Were he a Protestant minister, in place of a simple Jesuit, he would command the first salary and honors in the Protestant Church in the United States. His appearance is striking, his voice resonant, caim, and clear; his attitude and manner very impressive; in language he is as full as Burke; in style he is all that which the finished, accomplished classical scholar of genius ever is; in reasoning, philosophy and genius ever is; in reasoning, philosophy, and theology seem to be his own; and in fervid, unequivocal religious earnestness, it is impossible for the soul not to be deeply struck by him. He never has manuscript, and he never goes beyond thirty minutes. Such is the Rev. Robert Fulton, S. J., in the pulpit, Father Fulton preaches twice a day during this week at St. Joseph's. It is probable that on next Sunday he will preach at the 10 o'clock mass. And he may preach at the Cathedral on Easter Sunday. Easter Sunday.

Fires.-The alarm of fire this morning about 4 o'clock, was caused by the burning of Frank Riley's stable and Lacey's ice-house, situated in West Philadelphia, at Thirty-fifth street and the river Schuyikill. The stable, which was a large two-story frame building was entirely destroyed, and the roof falling in made it impossible to get out six horses, which made it impossible to get out six norses, which were burnt to death. The loft contained two and a half tons of hay, besides a lot of harness. The loss will fall heavily upon Mr. Riley, who was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in carting; the insurance foots up to

The roof of Mr. Lacey's ice-house was the only portion destroyed. The Lincoln Hose, in going at "headlong" speed to the fire, was turned "topsy-turvy" as they rounded the western corner of the Wire Bridge, and the car-riage was completely smashed and broken, affording a sorry sight to the disconsolate fire

About forty minutes past I o'clock this morning, a fire originated in the third story of the store owned by Tyson & Co., northeast corner of Third and Callowhill streets. The second and third stories were occupied by Eastburn & Brothers as a broom manufactory, The first floor was used as a coal oil refinery. The first broke out in the upper story, and but for the timely arrival of the Empire Hook and Ladder Company, who gave the means—ladders—for getting the hose into the third story, the damage would have been very great. No general alarm was struck, but the steamers in the vicinity were promptly on hand. Loss about $1000.

PURLOINING GOODS,-Emile Engle, aged seven teen years, has been until he was arrested this morning, in the employ of E. Price, Hunt & Co., at No. 117 N. Fourth street. For some time since he has been engaged in abstracting small articles slily, and in a small way enriching himself by their sale. He was caught, and held by Alderman Massey, in default of $1000 bail, to

A Kicking Appair.—Dennis Bonner, in a little discussion with a man named Charles Knox, on Main street, Frankford, was suddenly attacked by the latter, was knocked down, and kicked in the abdomen until he was insensible. Knox was arrested, and committed to await the result of the injuries sustained by Bonner, who was removed to the Hospital.

ANOTHER BRUTAL PRIZE FIGHT.

Collins vs. Rooks—The Former Declared Victor, From the N. Y. Tribune, to-day,

From the N. Y. Tribune, to-day.

On Monday evening last the citizens of the town of New London, which lies at the head of Sound navigation, beheld, with wonder and dismay the advent among them of about 150 roughs of all grades, from the inshionable gambler; and pickpocket, who usually dress with sufficient care and nicety to cause mistake among the best informed people, to the low pot house roffian who has indelibly stamped on his forehead the indubitable evidences of crime and brusality. After dark, the quiet streets of the old whaling seaport town were filled with uncount pedestrians in rough overcoats, slouch hats, sporting caps, and shodden with heavy thick-soledshoes of the most approved English mase.

At 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning, all those who destrous of assisting at the prize-fight were awakened, and had to turn out of bed in the cuility grey air of an April morning, and attire with haste in order to secure passage on a huge lumbering achooner which had been chartered by a leading puglist, for the conveyance of the roughs to Fisner's Island, in Long Island Sound, distant some nine miles from the harbor of New London. After some unnecessary delay, the pair of prize-fighters are brought on board, carefully wrapped up in overcoats, blankets, and comforter. Collins, one of the fighters, goes below in the narrow little cabin, and remains there until the schooner reaches her destination.

It is deemed advisable to land on some territory not owned by the State of Connecticut, and the schooner and two or three shoops and oyster smacks now anchored in shore, close to Fisher's Island, which is situate about nine miles from New London five miles from Greenport, Long Island and ten miles from Sag Harbor. The Island is hilly, with a good rich soil, nine miles in length, was formerly heavily timbered, until the great storm six years ago, which uprooted all the trees, and is at present the property of a Mr. Fox, who owns it and 2000 beed of cattle, the 6000 acres of land on the Island being but half under cultivat calityation.

A ring is nitched near the shore, sheltered by some scanty skrubbery, on a smooth piece of ground, and the passenger disembar loes in chocoling a referee and in the meantime the two men who are to fight arrive and enter the ring. The first man is George Rocke, a native of Ireland, 25 years of age, 1st pounds with the passenger of the passenger of phemy, obscenity, blackguardism, and ribaidry course from the lips of the leaders who can hardly control themselves, two or three throwing their has on the ground and jumping on them with excitement, socke has to wait at intervals for Coilins to get his breath, and it is impossible to get the stratch, whereat Rooke tryes and cries out now and then in the rounds. "Come out of your hole and fight me, you cowardly dog. You cant lick me, why it's impossible." "Til stay hore all day or a week to lick you; "What, at your old game of keeping me waiting?" "You ain't no fighter!" "Toe the sorstel, will ye!" and similar cheerful and entertaining sayings which are thought to be very good jokes by the crowd, who laugh with enjoyment. Coilins, who has lost nearly all his ferruginous ingresients, microis answers, "yes, George." or "I am in the ring already, George." The syes of Coilins are now nearly closed, and should he keep on fighting a few rounds more he will be unable to see from the effects of the and more active Rooke. Rooke has been published badly in the ribs, but does not show a mark, owing to his aplendid training. Up to the sixteenth round there is constant and rounds there is a clinch at the ropes, and should be keep on fighting a few rounds there is a clinch at the ropes, and should be keep on fighting a few rounds there are so the seen of the sixteenth round there is constant and rounds there is a clinch at the ropes, and should not a fight hand, which is open, on the face of Coilins; but does not strike him, when a cry of foul is raised in Coilins' corner, and the ring being broken, the referre decides that Rooke has given a foul blow, which so eprages Rooke that he makes at the referes. Corcoran, and crys out in a frantic voice, "I will kill you, you. —." but is taken away by his friends, and hout 250 brutes, whose appetite was just beginning to kindle for more blood. The fight his fasted for one hour and fifteen minutes. It was fought for too a side.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Brewster.—Charles McCanu, John Currey, James Jonway, and Thomas Toner were charged with assault and battery upon Officer Charles Conway. The evidence produced by the Commonwealth was as follows:—On the 29th of March Charles McCann made a brutst and unprovoked assault upon a colored man for which he was convicted yesterday). Officer Conway, who had beensent by his ilcutenant into the neighoorhood of Thirteenth and Catharine streets in citizen's clothing, coming upon McCann whilst he was beating the colored man, arrested him; John Correy interfered with the officer, and was soon followed by Toner and James Conway. They attacked him and reacond McCann. The officer was knocked down, and as soon as he recovered his feet he arrested Toner. He started off with his prisoner, and seeing that the crowd still followed him, he raised the budge of his office, showed it to the men about him, told them he was discharging his duty, and called upon them for assistance. Near the corner of Broad and Catherine streets, Currey attempted to get away. The officer shot him. Then the crowd gathered about him, Toner and Conway leading; they took his pistol from him and forcibly took him to an Alderman's office.

There was no defense made concerning McCann and his pistol from him and torciny took him to an Alderman's office.

There was no defense made concerning McCann and Currey.

The defense, as to Toner and Conway, alieged that these two defendants saw this officer, whom they supposed to be a citizen merely, wrestling with this man Currey. Without letting any one know that he was an officer of the law, Conway pulled his pistol and struck his prisoner on the head. Then when they saw him fire two shots at the man who was running away, and saw the man fall, they rushed upon him and took the pistol from him. When the crowd pressed upon him, these men even protected him from the blows that were directed at him. The defendants did not strike him once, but, not knowing that he was a policeman, they interfered in order to preserve the peace, arrested the officer and took him before an alderman, and there charged him with reckless firing in the street. The officer was not knocked down or in any way abused, nor did he call upon any one for assistance.

The defendants, Toner and Conway, established by abundance of proof very good characters. On trial, J. P. O Neil, Esse, for defendants.

DISTRICT COURT—Judge Sharswood.—William S. Ward, Executor, and Margaret F. Ward, Executirix, vs. Sines and Becker. An action to recover the value of a horse. Defendants sold to plaintiffs a horse which they represented as sound, Plaintiffs took the horse under those representations, but soon found that they had been deceived, for the animal was sickly and weak. They sent it back to defendants, who refused to receive it. On trial.

DISTRICT COURT—Judge Stroud,—The Washington Building and Saving Fund Association, No. 2, vs. John Hulseman, An action to recover for wenty-nine shares of stock in the Association, for which the defendant as treasurer has become liable, the claim amounting to §1883. On trial. Remak for plaintiff: Hyer and Archer for defendants.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—Judge Pierce.—Thomas Montgomery, vs. Johnson Major. An action to recover for work and labor done. Verdict for defenda man's office.

There was no defense made concerning McCann and.
